

Re: Another Boring Technology Thread

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.lang.japan/2004-07/0498.html>

From: tanukimi (tanukimi_at_hikyaku.com)

Date: 07/08/04

Date: 8 Jul 2004 11:00:26 -0700

"Curt Fischer" <crf3@po.cwru.edu> wrote in message news:<210h32F7ekhhU1@uni-berlin.de>...

> As far as a Kanji drilling program goes, I love KanjiLab my Collin McCulley.

> If only it were available for Linux or Java! What about a Linux Stackz or a

> Linux Supermemo? Or, is there a tegaki PDA running Japanese Windows CE that > I could get all this stuff on?

Supermemo for Linux is still being developed. Stackz is currently only on Windows CE. Have you tried the Java app Pauker?

<http://pauker.sourceforge.net/>