

Re: successful language learners -- techniques and experiences

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.lang.japan/2004-10/0297.html>

From: Michael Cash (mikecash_at_buggerallspammers.com)

Date: 10/05/04

Date: Tue, 05 Oct 2004 21:16:13 +0900

On Tue, 05 Oct 2004 01:07:11 GMT, Travers Naran <tnaran@no-more-virii-please.direct.ca> brought down from the Mount tablets inscribed:

>Sean Holland wrote:

>>

>> I concur. Also, don't hang around socialising all the time with a bunch of >> foreigners. IF at all possible, make friends with Japanese who aren't >> interesting in English or other foreign languages. Drink with them, sing >> karaoke with them, try to seduce them etc.

>> On the way home, crash your motorcycle and end up in a hospital for three >> months where no one is interested in English. Oh, well, perhaps this last >> bit is not for everyone. But it works well too.

>

>So is that how you met Mrs. Holland?

I bet she's interesting in English, though.

--

Michael Cash

"I am sorry, Mr. Cash, but we are unable to accept your rap sheet in lieu of a high school transcript."

Dr. Howard Sprague
Dean of Admissions
Mount Pilot College