

Re: Audio Flashcard Program

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.lang.japan/2005-06/msg01376.html>

- From: "Tom" <audioflash@xxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 28 Jun 2005 11:41:53 -0700
-

Well, I don't know if anyone has checked out this flashcard prog yet, but in case you've been holding your breath for an update, you can exhale now...

Version Triple Beta split with sprinkles has been uploaded on my website, ready for you to play with. I added the functionality to record audio clips directly from the program and have them autosave to a folder on the drive with the filename of the Kanji on the card. If someone has downloaded the program, please give me some feedback. Yeah, I know it's rough, but give it a little try... it's so flexible, I'm sure you can use it for good. Not evil, as it were. Whatever that means.

Link~

www45.brinkster.com/captainthom

peace,

-Tom

• References:

◆ Audio Flashcard Program

◇ From: Tom

- Prev by Date: Re: The name of the typeface
- Next by Date: Re: A public request to Danny Wilde
- Previous by thread: Audio Flashcard Program
- Next by thread: Katakana translations
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread