

Re: Mac Dashboard Translator

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.lang.japan/2006-01/msg00813.html>

- From: "chance" <livewire@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 29 Jan 2006 16:09:21 +0900
-

"Sean" <notsean@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:C0012871.3934%notsean@xxxxxxxxxxxxx
> I recently upgraded to the latest Mac OS (10.4.4) which has this thing > called "Dashboard." It has a bunch of little applets that can be instantly > accessed, including one called "Translation." Maybe it uses the Google > translation thing. I don't know about that.
> Being a serious, mature individual, I tested it by asking for a translation > of ㄣ, F.
> I got "The fool you probably will do." Pretty good, eh?
>

Good grief! Prety good from seeing 'fool'for baka' and 'do' for 'yaro' combined for this time as a 'fluke'? But how can you make 'bakayaro' of that 'nonsense'? Get real!

CK

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Mac Dashboard Translator
◇ From: Sean
 - References:
 - ◆ Mac Dashboard Translator
◇ From: Sean
 - Prev by Date: Re: Edict example sentences.
 - Next by Date: Re: Edict example sentences.
 - Previous by thread: Re: Mac Dashboard Translator
 - Next by thread: Re: Mac Dashboard Translator
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread