Once, i got this hint from Paul Blay (i think it was him) where he explained how to set up OE so Japanese coding comes up by default, so ?? doesn't happen.

I have Google the net for it but i can't find it. I'm sure it is there since i read it once but, perhaps due to a stress or need (Murphys law, i guess) i just can't locate it. Help?

I had the same problem. I don't think there's any good solution. OE doesn't send out headers that allow the decoding to take place automatically by everyone.

My solution was to sign up at <http://groups.google.com/>. It's still in Beta testing but it's available and it's free.
