I said to my IME to spell DcKRd and to my surprise it didn't show but ö. My astonishment is build up on following bases.

1. I expected DcKRd to be the same way as DctM will be 9, with no extra "thingies".
2. Let's say there will be extra "thingies". Why, oh why not use hiragana, i.e. c?
3. Why is there an option of öwhat so ever? What happend to õ as the only available option?
