

Re: Tawake?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.lang.japan/2006-12/msg00657.html>

- From: "Cindy" <cindyduet@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 18 Dec 2006 17:53:11 -0800
-

John R. Yamamoto-Wilson wrote:

Our ideas about language are necessarily limited by our sociolinguistic background. We often do not appreciate just how different the background of other native speakers may be and, to be effective teachers, we will probably do best if we focus on what is definitely and unequivocally wrong, rather than trying to polish up features which are largely a matter of taste.

I wonder if Ben is aware that this group is sci.lang.japan. Therefore, correcting someone's English is technically off-topic. I remember a while back when Ben was acting like a net police to the posters who didn't stick to the Japanese language. I have to conclude that Ben is:

Ö°k³WOê k DÝKj7

.