OK, This is in reply to all of you – politely – you have been almost to a 'man'.. full of bull–shit. Don, when you said that you were in criminal justice – I spent the entire day at work really doubting myself and trying to figure out how my common sense could be so flawed, and that my actions really were "controlling and abusive" and I just wasn't aware of how flagrant my actions were.

So, this evening it hit me – I entered for a search on google: "get your facts straight before confronting a cheating spouse" to see what I would come up with.

Here's what I found, and Don, you fraud – here is a site that is meant exactly for you – criminal justice my ass! Where?!
<http://www.domelights.com/forums/index.php?showtopic=9090>
Its ANONYMOUS COPS talking about infidelity in their ranks and how to deal with it. LINE OF ADVICE NUMBER ONE FROM THIS SITE? Glad you asked! It boils down to "DON'T CONFRONT HER UNTIL YOU HAVE YOUR FACTS STRAIGHT"

And, I liked this one: "THIS IS EXACTLY WHAT WE NEED TO CONTINUE TO DO IS SUPPORT EACH OTHER AT THE MOST CRITICAL TIMES AT NEED. JUST KEEP YOUR HEAD UP AND ALL THE ADVICE LISTED HERE IS VERY GOOD." – Certainly not what I have been getting in this group of "well–intentioned gentlemen".

How about this one:
http://www.sideroad.com/Marriage/dealing_with_infidelity.html
IS HE CHEATING ON YOU? "Do not confront your husband without proof of his infidelity. To do so will be a colossal waste of time. Unless you can prove he's been cheating, ..."

OR, this one:
http://www.faqfarm.com/Q/How_do_you_catch_a_cheating_husband
"The more you lead him to believe that you are on to him, the harder he is going to try to cover up his tracks. Personally, i have confronted mine and only got no where. He will only deny, and tell you everything you want to hear..that or he will begin to get angry and may even avoid, or walk out on the confrontation. This will push him away making it harder to find results."

AND HERE IS A GREAT ONE TO ANSWER YOUR FLAWED ADVICE OF "INVASION OF PRIVACY"

<http://ezinearticles.com/?Cheating-Spouse:-Is-Spying-an-Invasion-of-Privacy?&id=2125>

Just read the article from this expert on helping people dealing with cheating spouses.

DAMN! And the list goes on and on and on!

Simply – "FIDELITY" IS PART OF THE MARRIAGE VOWS – 'RIGHT TO PRIVACY' IS NOT!

Now, I need help getting my facts straight. Can I get it here or not?
