Ben,

Dave also said to get a 2nd opinion – some of the writing was too messy for him to translate.

OK, This is in reply to all of you – politely – you have been almost to a 'man'.. full of bull–shit. Don, when you said that you were in criminal justice – I spent the entire day at work really doubting myself and trying to figure out how my common sense could be so flawed, and that my actions really were "controlling and abusive" and I just wasn't aware of how flagrant my actions were.

I really don't know why anybody sees fit to pass judgement on your personality from such a tiny amount of evidence as we've seen.

Now, I need help getting my facts straight. Can I get it here or not?

I thought Dave Fossett already translated those pages for you. What's the problem that you want help with?
