

Re: A China–Sumer connection

Source: <http://sci.tech–archive.net/Archive/sci.lang/2005–03/0932.html>

a.manansala_at_attbi.com

Date: 03/06/05

Date: 6 Mar 2005 05:53:16 -0800

Comm wrote:

> <phippmartin@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> <news:1110079915.949753.131050@g14g2000cwa.googlegroups.com...>
> > Comm wrote:
> >

> First off, people with oral traditions have VERY good memories – they have > to.

Yes, there are some who can chant for weeks all day long straight from memory, and they aren't repeating stuff over and over.

Some know the names and properties of hundreds if not thousands of herbs and medicines.

Generally people who travel a lot don't like to be burdened with stacks of books or clay tablets.

Regards,

Paul Kekai Manansala

<http://sambali.blogspot.com/>