I don't know what the third book you mention is.

That's the only one I'm familiar with (The Goddesses etc.). I've browsed it through many years ago, and can't recall there being anything on the Vinèa script.

Another error in this thread, which is an exchange of remarks between guys who don't know M. Gimbutas' work!...

The book "Gods and Goddesses of Old Europe", edited in 1974, has been one of the first written by M. Gimbutas. It has been reedited in 1982, with some revisions, under the title, this time, of : "The Goddesses and Gods of Old Europe". A bit confusing, of course, for those who are not familiar with M. Gimbutas' work !..

Both books deal, of course, with the Vinça Script, even if this denomination is not explicitly used by M. Gimbutas. In the book "The Goddesses and Gods of Old Europe", one has just to look, for instance at the map of the "Vinça Civilization" on p. 23, to be convinced that M. Gimbutas talk in fact of what other scholars have called "the Vinça Script"...
