Hi! I hope this is the right group for this question.

Can anyone recommend any good home courses to learn Arabic? Is there one or two courses that are better than all the rest?

With all the things going on in the Middle East I've been reading a few books about that area. I thought it would be interesting to try to learn some basic Arabic.

I recommend the Teach Yourself series.

I think I read some time back that Arabic is much more difficult than Spanish and western European languages. Is it a waste of time to even attempt to learn a language like Arabic? Would it be better to go thru a University (the local college says on their web site that they offer Arabic based on student demand and professor availability).

Anyway, are there any good Arabic home courses (CD audio and book or PC program)?

Thanks!
