Did I say otherwise?

Yes, you said it proves that Americans don't dislike it. It's entirely possible that he can have a successful career as an activist and a broadcaster with a voice people dislike.

You're right. That possibility didn't occur to me.

Just to be sure, is:

And where, praytell, would I "borrow a computer for a moment"?

From a colleague, at your employer's, you walk by and ask if you may listen to this sound for a second? Or a neighbour, maybe? A public library with internet access? An internet café? (Cybercafé, if that's what it's called).

Patinkin is the same age as me

I don't know your age.

(he went to school on the South Side of Chicago with a friend of mine); I think Kennedy is slightly younger than me, i.e. your age.
