In fact, common sense isn't to be trusted in most scientific fields, either. It was responsible for various incorrect beliefs, like the sun revolving around the earth or heavier objects falling faster than lighter objects.

The fact is the heavier object falls faster than the lighter one. What a stupid full you are! Have you ever heard for vacuum-space?

Whether the sun revolves the earth is a relative question. Philosophically taken there are the two "truths" – cosmic and microcosmic – both inseparable affiliated to 'common sense'.

Oh, Nathan, Nathan, what did you expect, poking in this black hole? You have no background or experience to argue balkanized physics and common-sense-affiliated cosmology!
