

Rainbow in Our Lives

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.lang/2008-04/msg00762.html>

- From: alanejackson <alanejackson@xxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 22 Apr 2008 09:13:28 -0700 (PDT)
-

Or

A Reminder.

Some say the planet Mars does not have a magnetic field. And, some say we would not have the atmosphere that we do, if it were not for the Earth's magnetic field. The word "firmament" may be referring to our atmosphere and its ability to maintain life, when mentioned in the Bible.

A rainbow, it has been said, is a token or symbol of a covenant between God and earth. But, have we recently learned that without a magnetic field there would not be rainbows? Is a rainbow also a sign of a magnetic field on a planet?

From the reports, Jesus was called many names, and Carpenter and Rabbi are two of them. A worker with wood, and someone that studies and teaches the written history.

A rocking chair, and a cradle are called so because they have bows on the parts that touch the earth, where they stand. And a study of the theory of Magnetrition points to rocking chairs and cradles being used as a tool/method of keeping a person cells more active in movement within the Earth's magnetic field. This being done, to facilitate healthy growth in our cells, because this need was learned through the practice of animal husbandry over the years. Such as the need to turn the birds egg during incubation.

What is known as the Lords prayer, in the New Testament, has the words "in/on earth as it is in heaven". Could this be referring to the covenant between God and earth? Could this be referring to the "bow in the cloud" as well as the "bow of the cradle"? Are rocking chairs and cradles tokens of man beginning to understand God's covenant with the flesh of the Earth?

Some people, when they learn about the theory of Magnetrition, say that it needs to be proved. And they say more experiments have to be done to prove it. I usually respond by disagreeing with them. I point out that the idea is similar to the requirement of having to turn people every two hours to prevent bedsores. We have learned through the accumulation of knowledge acquired through observation that bedsores occur when people are not turned every two hours. If you were to teach/share this rule for preventing bedsores to people not previously aware of it, and a student asked for prove of this need, is there an experiment that could do that?

Rainbow in Our Lives

Seems to me, a person must rely on the accumulated evidence. If his faith in the evidence is weak, study should strengthen it. It seems the only way to prove it through experimentation is not to do it. And that doesn't make sense.

Genesis 9:12 And God said, This is the token of the covenant which I make between me and you and every living creature that is with you, for perpetual generations: 13 I do set my bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a token of a covenant between me and the earth. 14 And it shall come to pass, when I bring a cloud over the earth, that the bow shall be seen in the cloud: 15 And I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh. 16 And the bow shall be in the cloud; and I will look upon it, that I may remember the everlasting covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is upon the earth.

17 And God said unto Noah, This is the token of the covenant, which I have established between me and all flesh that is upon the earth.

Genesis 1:20 And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.

Matthew 6:10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. (King James Version)

Matthew 6:10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth. (American Standard Version)

Alan

Search + Share ~ Magnetrition

<http://www.freewebs.com/alanejackson/index.htm>

Mark 8:33 But when he had turned about and looked on his disciples, he rebuked Peter, saying, Get thee behind me, Satan: for thou savourest not the things that be of God, but the things that be of men.

Luke 4:8 And Jesus answered and said unto him, Get thee behind me, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

.