Albert:

The Immortalist may not answer your question. Many of the Immortalist's posts are quotes, some lengthly, and are labeled as such. But, on the basis of many essays I have read by this person, you can be sure that the Immortalist draws ideas from many sources, organizes them in his/her own mind, and writes them with his/her own fingers. You will occasionally see an idea that he/she has created "original" in this way. Sometimes he/she will barrage a post with urls that are beside the point, but there's always a point made other than some negative, stupid comment.
