Moe, thank you very much for writing. With permission, I will save your kind post and study it carefully at home. I shall answer properly tomorrow.

Thank you very much for your bibliographical suggestions. I trust those are great(!) books as I have had plenty of chance to study your competent posts and learn of your great mathematical skill. I will put them on the top of my reading list. Boolos&Jeffrey are pretty much self-contained, though, and if you think about it (this item has received great applause from many a mathie). It is just that little part I mentioned that has continued to make me bounce off for several months now. Seems like a nut too tough for a complete newbie like me.

Kindest regards,
Tom
