Re: A summary of my position so far.

That almost worked. How did you –do– that?

??? I just quoted what he wrote. Of course I snipped a few irrelevant words here and there...

I thought it might have been an automatic text scrambler that somehow preserves grammar (or lack thereof) or something like dissociated–press.

Selective snipping is rather manipulative.

You unaware of the historical precedent – JJ has this habit of taking a moderately complex argument and snipping all but the last sentence, thereby hiding the entire point.

I think verbatim quotes are enough to show what you want to show; your last sentence stood out in its uncharacteristic unparsability.
