

Re: Open source library for C for calculating approximation coeffs

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math.num-analysis/2006-03/msg00184.html>

- From: "Robin Bruce" <robin.bruce@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 14 Mar 2006 02:58:43 -0800
-

Peter,

I've downloaded the cephes stuff, and it looks very useful. I think however that Mathematica will be useful to me as it is an ideal environment for experimentation. Once I know what I'm doing well enough to start automating things a bit more, then I can see me using the cephes stuff.

Cheers,

Robin

.