

Re: A Definition of an Algorithm

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math.research/2006-02/msg00152.html>

- From: noson@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: Sun, 26 Feb 2006 16:00:14 +0000 (UTC)
-

Googmeister wrote:

What's wrong with the classic definition based on Turing machines (or other equivalent formalisms)?

Those are definitions of a program. A program is an implimantation of an algorithm. For one algorithm, there are many different programs.

All the best,
Noson

.