

relationship between categorical limits and usual limits

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math.research/2007-12/msg00059.html>

- From: harsha <harsha.v.r@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 23 Dec 2007 15:00:04 +0000 (UTC)
-

hi,

i was wondering as to what exactly is the relationship between categorical limits and the usual notion of limits in topological spaces. more specifically, two naive questions :

can one impose topological structure on a category so that notion of limits coincide?

can one derive a category from the category of open sets in a topological space in which somehow points correspond to limits?

thanks,

harsha

.