hi;

At many scientific meetings, I have asked the Scientific Word (I think I have it right) why they do not have their partially WYSIWYG version of TeX available for Unix, and they claim it would not sell well enough for the effort. I cannot believe this.

Scientific word is being re-written completely to run on windows/mac and unix/linux.

I have called the company many times wondering when the next version will be out, and that is what they tell me.

It seems they have been working on this re-write for years. I think they will make a release by end of this year or next year based on some conversations I had with the customer support.

I use Scientific word (actually scientific workplace) all the time, and I think it is a great program, but the HTML export part could use some improvement.
