

Re: JSH: Attacking the conclusion

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2004-06/4608.html>

---

From: James Harris is Nuts (nuts\_at\_jsh.com)

Date: 06/21/04

Date: Mon, 21 Jun 2004 00:47:18 +0000 (UTC)

On 20 Jun 2004, Quinn Tyler Jackson wrote:

>Frankly, you are starting to >frighten me. You really are. I *wish* I were being melodramatic about >this -- that I was exaggerating my feelings in this regard -- but you are >starting to make me feel creepy -- like you're invading my personal space

(snip)

>but frankly, your obsession with >this stuff is really going to far for my comfort levels.
>

(snip)

>please, exercise some restraint. I don't >care what you think, but show some moderation. Show me that I have nothing >to worry about from your behavior, that you're really just treating this as >a personal crusade, and it isn't something beyond that.

>

>Like I say -- I wish I were being melodramatic, but you've carried this a >bit far, dude.

>

>--

>Quinn

>

GROW UP, YOU BABY!

Why don't you read the archives of your buddy James Harris and his YEARS of SHIT postings, insults, threats, distortions of reality, etc. etc. etc.?

Then you'll see the lost life and mind of James Harris, poster boy for cranks!

I dare you -- read the archives, and then come back and tell this newsgroup what you think of your friend James Harris.

sci.math: Re: JSH: Attacking the conclusion

Or don't YOU have the balls to face this newsgroup about your friend?

Until then ...

James Harris is Nuts(TM)