

Re: Cantor won, but one final question anymore thnk u

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2004-09/6108.html>

From: Victor Eijkhout (see.sig_at_for.addy)

Date: 09/25/04

Date: Sat, 25 Sep 2004 18:57:18 -0400

Keckman <keckman@welho.com> wrote:

> There is not gap when we stay in Q.

That's fuzzy terminology. Just look at the definition.

> c=sqrt(2) doesn't belong to Q,

Right. So, since c is the number that should have been in the gap between A,B, and it is not in Q, then clearly there is a gap in Q.

V.

--

email: lastname at cs utk edu

homepage: www cs utk edu tilde lastname