I have, Herc.

You claim to have accomplished all those, people who can do the math, and have looked at your claims, note that you are blowing smoke. That's 2 == "too bad for you" plus 2 == ( your reputation & your sanity ) brought low by your ravings.

Neither of those findings requires splendid insight on the part of observers to assemble into a whole.

Your dreams of wealth will end up on life's cutting room floor along with the rest of your ravings, and deservedly so. You have done nothing to deserve fame, and nothing to deserve fortune either.

Attempts to scam your way to the first do get you ridiculed, attempts to scam your way to the second will get you jailed.

That, not the bogus results of the dictates of numerology, or the laughingstock reputation you gain from your claims to be a divine being, is how life works in this, the real world, which real world is something far away from the place where you dwell in your delusional mind.
