

Re: Epistemology 201: The Science of Science

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2005-02/6636.html>

From: Lester Zick (lesterDELzick_at_worldnet.att.net)

Date: 02/17/05

Date: Thu, 17 Feb 2005 20:07:03 GMT

On Thu, 17 Feb 2005 12:46:47 -0500, "robert j. kolker"
<nowhere@nowhere.net> in comp.ai.philosophy wrote:

>Lester Zick wrote:

>

>> But there is for how they move vacuum tubes or valves as the British >> call them.

>

>So what. No one uses them for computers any more. They are slow, they >are unreliable and they have a short mean time between failures.

Hardly relevant to your QM claims. The technology was clearly developed before QM became relevant to its development. Maybe you should be trying to establish QM's claims to Tinker Toys instead.

Regards – Lester