

Re: JSH: Letting it drop

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2005-05/msg01403.html>

---

- From: JimS <sorry@xxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 08 May 2005 23:34:42 +1000
-

On Fri, 6 May 2005 18:00:45 +0000 (UTC), magidin@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
(Arturo Magidin) wrote:

>In article <0iom71pb3qjv83v12eq4dj58ftthealpd6@xxxxxxx>,
>David C. Ullrich <ullrich@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:
>
>>But it's curious to see you expressing doubts about whether >>it all really mattered. Does this mean that all your statements >>about how the world was going to end if we didn't acknowledge >>your genius were wrong? Just curious.
>
>To borrow from a certain poster's recent musing:
>
>How curious that a certain poster just happens to announce he will >stop posting to usenet, exactly when certain comments of his are >coming due, with regards to one of the Major Achievements(tm).
>
>Original is gone from Google, but you can find it in mathforum:
>
><http://mathforum.org/kb/message.jspa?messageID=412528&tstart=0>
:-)

from http://www.maa.org/pubs/monthly\_may05\_toc.html
"Along the way we will discover how wrong proofs of Fermat's Last Theorem led in part to these developments"

Do you actually name-check James? :-P I *love* irony.

Jim
.

---

- Follow-Ups:
  - ◆ Re: JSH: Letting it drop
◇ From: Jim Ferry
  - ◆ Re: JSH: Letting it drop
◇ From: Arturo Magidin

Re: JSH: Letting it drop

- References:

- ◆ Re: JSH: Letting it drop
  - ◇ From: Arturo Magidin

- Prev by Date: Re: Extremums of a curve: how to determine?
- Next by Date: Re: the New ERA is at hand, we are preparing it.
- Previous by thread: Re: JSH: Letting it drop
- Next by thread: Re: JSH: Letting it drop
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread