

Re: mathematician salaries

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2005-06/msg01988.html>

- From: "Aldar C-F. Chan" <aldar@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 13 Jun 2005 17:10:06 GMT
-

"Jesse F. Hughes" <jesse@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:87k6kyiap0.fsf@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
"ođin" <ođin@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> writes:

>> In Mark's dozens of posts, Mark does occasionally allude to the fact >> that he >> earned a PhD in a hard science, and that Mark has successfully >> consumated his training in >> the realm of finance.
>
> Consumated [sic] his training? Would you please look up the word > "consummated". Note the spelling and the meaning. This is the second time > I > have seen you demonstrate that you do not know the spelling or meaning of > this word.

Not to defend the silly poser, but seems to me that he used the word correctly here (never mind the spelling).

Actually there are two very different meanings for this word, one is what the silly
poser meant, but the other seems to mean something related to sex.

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: mathematician salaries
 ◇ From: Mike Kent
 - References:
 - ◆ Re: mathematician salaries
 ◇ From: Jesse F. Hughes
 - ◆ Re: mathematician salaries
 ◇ From: double d

Re: mathematician salaries

◆ Re: mathematician salaries

◇ From: Jesse F. Hughes

- Prev by Date: Re: two math phds
- Next by Date: Re: A Magnificent Sum
- Previous by thread: Re: mathematician salaries
- Next by thread: Re: mathematician salaries
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread