

Re: Why Archimedes Plutonium will never proof the 4CT

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2006-02/msg02167.html>

- From: cet1@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx (Chris Thompson)
 - Date: 13 Feb 2006 19:53:35 GMT
-

In article <1138602995.032726.74020@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>, Proginoskes <CHeckman@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

Minus XVII wrote:

I think it's just his comprehension of english, taht gets him no end of trouble in satisfying neccesity and/
or sufficiency, or even defining the problem at first reading.

He grew up in the United States and learned English. If he had just gotten off the boat, he'd have an excuse. As it is, he's just as stubborn as a dachshund.

What we need are badgers that can bite back hard. So far he seems to have suffered only minor flesh wounds.

--
Chris Thompson
Email: [cet1 \[at\] cam.ac.uk](mailto:cet1@cam.ac.uk)