

Re: dissolving Russel's Paradox

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2006-04/msg02179.html>

- From: yuancheng <yuancheng1789@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 11 Apr 2006 13:16:07 EDT
-

if we assume all sets belong to the first classical. but the problem is what's the set of all sets? if it exists, we assume it's R , but what about the set $R' = \{R, \{1\}\}$?

.