People coming in with Google Groups can rate posts, and I'd like more people to start rating to help me pick which people to reply to.

If this experiment works, I'll start going more by group opinions on posts.

I'd like to try and see if more of the crap posters can be weeded out in this way, as they are down-rated to a level that I know I can completely ignore them from now on.

And no, down rating my posts will not matter to me.

I personally rate them highly.

This is just a way for those who wish to give me feedback as to which people they think I should answer.
