Whar is this have to do with mathematics? Is there a question here?

I have questions, both for you and the OP.

For you: Have you already warned off every other poster who has posted off-topic to sci.math? If you have not, then you have no right to object to this one.

For the OP: My friend thank you for a very informative piece on Quran and Science, but is this the right forum to display it in? Do you know that in the Quran Allah says to the prophet that he is not the caretaker of the disbelievers? (Lusta alaihim bemusaitir.)Do you also know that God Almighty has promised that those who seek Him will be guided along the right paths? Do you also know that some folks who go preaching do more damage than good by preaching at the wrong time and to the wrong crowd? So my friend you have a good piece, put it on a webpage and Arwah Saidah will come to read it. You can post here if someone uses this forum to attack Muslims and Islam and you have something to repulse the attack with. Otherwise it is a Math forum let it be that.
