

Re: JSH: Ok, what DOES amuse me

Re: JSH: Ok, what DOES amuse me

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2007-06/msg02586.html>

- From: "putnamehere" <spamless@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 13 Jun 2007 23:26:29 -0500
-

<jstevh@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1181780636.106995.169770@xx>

On Jun 13, 2:54 pm, litsoh...@xxxxxxxxxxxx wrote:

On Jun 12, 9:58 pm, jst...@xxxxxxxxxxxx wrote:

I will admit that I find it fascinating how much stock math people put in put downs, as if some wacky postings on some website, or a bunch of people continually calling you crazy actually makes a difference.

people like to crap with power projection onto obnoxious people, like you.

Maybe it does in your world, but not in mine.

Right. And you demonstrate how little those web pages mean to you by threatening to sue over them:

"Failure to comply may make the authors of that webpage liable for financial damages which I contend I can prove are in the hundreds of thousands (maybe millions) of dollars."

LOL. I've estimated that the mathematical community is costing me around two million dollars US per year at least, and costing the California and the US federal government over 10 times that at least in tax receipts.

Re: JSH: Ok, what DOES amuse me

as usual your math stinks, you have lost only TIME to post your crap, during that time you could have been working at 7-11 for $5.51 an hour. but you chose unwisely.

<snip poop>

James Har<snip ri-ass> too!