

Re: Why do people lie?

Re: Why do people lie?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2007-10/msg04594.html>

- From: "Solbek" <rolf183@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 25 Oct 2007 08:27:41 -0500
-

"JSH" <jstevh@xxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1193292673.218653.51300@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

People lie to gain an advantage when they want something badly enough, lack the morals not to lie, and think they can gain an advantage by lying.

That is why You lie in sci.math.

George W. Bush is an interesting case as let's say for the sake of argument that he lied about "weapons of mass destruction" being in Iraq.

He did not, Iraq could not show where the weapons, all documented at the end of the first war by the UN, went.

<snip surface knowledge>

I pulled he thread and my analysis is that he is not a great student of history, felt as the oldest he could fix things as he felt that his father was disadvantaged by his decisions about Iraq and taxes, and he naively decided to reverse his father's decisions.

Wrong. How old are you ? 18 ?
You should take American Government and American History again.

So he invaded Iraq and cut taxes.

Re: Why do people lie?

Re: Why do people lie?

Easy.

Why would mathematicians lie about math?

Why would JSH lie about math ?

Easy.

It's all about the Easy button like in that commercial.

that is how you proved Serriagoat Fingering, by pressing that Easy Button.

They do it for their advantage. And they can clearly get away with it, to a point.

Now ask yourselves, if there is wholesale lying by the mathematical community about math, how would you know it?

They only lie to you, JSH. Because you are such a dumbass and suck so badly at math, you will accept anything any nimrod will say to you about math, does $1 = 1$? really?

So why wouldn't they?

Prove that they are.

I call the situation a Catch-22, like how if Bush were a great leader he wouldn't have to lie like I think he does, but not being a great leader there is no way in hell he'll ever admit to doing what he does.

If these people were great mathematicians they would not need to lie about math, but not being great mathematicians there is no way in hell they will ever admit to doing what they are doing.

Your logic is perfect:

If all Monkeys have two legs
and all Men have two legs
then all Men are Monkeys

Re: Why do people lie?

Re: Why do people lie?

And what they do is waste your time.

Weak minds who cannot understand history, who cannot comprehend that there is a benefit to the entire human species in actually knowing correct mathematics.

We accept the fact that you have a "weak mind".

We make allowances for it.

We spend huge hours of time explaining to you basics of math, all for nought.

To them "pure math" is just a way to make money, and who cares, after all, there is all this science and technology out there anyway, which relies on the correct applied math, so who does it hurt?

moron, there is little difference between pure and applied, you have never done either.

But thousands of years ago, people had no clue what they could do with the mathematics that is used today in so many areas.

your history lesson for us? You still have no clue. Thousands of years late.

The "mathematicians" who cannot see why it matters that they tell the truth are wishing to condemn the children of humanity because they cannot see them. They cannot care for them. They only care for what they see today.

you assume others lie, because you lie all the time, your mama lied to you when she said you were "smart", she realized you are a dumbass back then, she dropped on your head when you were a baby, several times, because you kept lying about Math.

Re: Why do people lie?

Re: Why do people lie?

And if finally the human species will fail here then deservedly it will die as it no longer cares for those who are to come.

Go "transition" to another planet, spaced cadet.

And if so I say good riddance.

You, JSH are the only one I know that lies about Math.

James Harris

God will get your lying math ass.

.