

Re: CERN concern

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.math/2008-10/msg00727.html>

- From: Han de Bruijn <Han.deBruijn@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 06 Oct 2008 09:18:39 +0200
-

Timothy Murphy wrote:

Mensanator wrote:

If a single black hole forms, won't it collide with other protons?

And wouldn't that effect be additive since it's a black hole?

I'm convinced this black hole nonsense was invented by CERN's PR department, to make a boring and excessively expensive experiment sound interesting and worth-while.

I'm convinced it has been created and found its way to the stock market.

Han de Bruijn

.