It is a girl I am talking to on the net. She is early thirties with a hereditary problem with heart. She is extremely secretive. I just happened to learn that her bp is 80/40. I know she had an operation about 8 months ago that was successful. It was not a heart transplant. Would sex be possible? Just how disabling would this condition be. She acts quite bitter towards people so I was thinking she might be quite disabled by the condition. If she reads this, i can kiss my life good bye.
