Are you that afraid of the words of others that you have to snip and/or intentionally distort them? Your faith must be very shaky if you are unable to let the words of your challengers stand on their own.

No. You were the one that hissed "He's my hero", thus putting words in Bob's mouth that he did not in any way utter. This meets the definition of "false witness".

"Embellish" being another way of saying, "distort" (aka, lie).
