if it didnt look like anything, why would they have to downplay it?

Your EKG was nonetheless abnormal.

Changes we sometimes see in folks with chronic recurrent subacute pulmonary embolic events (small clots going to the lung).

what exactly do each of those things i mentioned stand for exactly?

RAE stands for Right Atrial Enlargement.

NSSTW (Delta) stands for Non-Specific ST and T Wave Changes

RSR' in V2 describes a particular appearance of the QRS wave in EKG lead V2 and how on earth could they have ruled out pulmonary issues and hypertension if they couldnt even see my pulmonary arteries and trunk?

Your history and physical exam may have lowered their clinical suspicion for pulmonary emboli.

Actually, those who don't ask questions are the ones that typically end up being sorry.

Yeah, apparently my cardiologist seems to see a sin in asking questions..

Sad to read about your difficulties with your cardiologist.

thanks again.

You are welcome :-)
