Would suggest you ask your doctor about Limbrel (I do not have any ties with the company that makes this product). It effectively reduces pain of osteoarthritis by reducing

This would be a temporary measure until you lose all the VAT, which is likely the underlying cause of your osteoarthritis.

Be hungry... be healthy... be blessed:

Be sure that if you complained of headlice, Andrew would stretch medical science to show the cause was all your VAT, so he could cynically piggyback his "eating approach".

Okay, you wannna play ? I'll play your way then. Do you believe in innocent until proven guilty ? Yes or no ? I've seen no evidence of Andrews guilt in anything here, and his advice to me certainly checked out with my Doctor! You on the other hand have furnished all manner of posts defaming, slandering and railing against a man who in return has exhibited a kindness and tolerance towards you that you have not extended towards him.

You wanna play, play with this fact: you repeated behavior towards Andrew in your posts demonstrates and meets the guidelines set down in federal law having sway over internet stalking and harassment.

Now, you want to talk about wrong, lets talk about you and what you're doing, and what you've done. I don't appreciate you using a thread which I addressed to Andrew to defame and stalk him. If I had wanted your advice then i would ask for it, but your own actions towards Andrew indicate that your advice is as worthless as your actions towards Andrew.

Now, if you can't prove any of your claims against the man then stop stalking him, and I'm not talking about previous posts archived in Google. I'm speaking of something that will stand up in court, and if you can't do that then your attacks on him are unjustified and hateful, and pretty darned worthless.

Re: Andrew, I have a question....

Now if Andrew is pushing a diet, then by way of the value in his previous advice I would say there will be some benefit to it and I'll hear him out.

Do you understand ? I don't in any way want my posts associated with any of your personal attacks. I know this is difficult, but do you believe you can manage to tend to your own affairs for once ??

You're not doing your high blood pressure any good foaming all over your keyboard, are you?

Ae.

I'm glad that my point got across. You can keep your insults, and be sure to change your diaper.....
