

Re: Tight glucose control in hospitals and later outcomes

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.cardiology/2007-08/msg00178.html>

---

- From: Rod <kc0ueb@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 06 Aug 2007 15:34:37 -0500
-

Flying Rat wrote:

In article <1186230249.701489.51580@xx>, heartdoc17@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx says...

This completely free approach comes with free cardiologist support via usenet and even includes an unprecedented million-dollar guarantee:

and we are still waiting for proof of this.

If you're still waiting for proof of that, then why are you calling it a lie ? This is no more than a confession that your word is worthless and you're willing to lie to reach whatever end you desire.

This is proof that your word is worthless, as no sane person calls a man a liar when he knows NOT whether he lies! If you found out that he was in fact speaking the truth you would have to apologize and recant, again making your judgment and your word worthless. That doesn't seem to matter to you, does it?

I will be saving your post for others to view on the chance that they question Andrew because of your lies....for you have lied....

Rod

--

"When fascism comes to America, it will be wrapped in dishonesty and clad in aggression"

The Truth

.