

Re: Mommy, where do islands come from? Was Re: Why do Dentists and their receptionists/assistants always ask the patient

Re: Mommy, where do islands come from? Was Re: Why do Dentists and their receptionists/assistants always ask the patient who referred them?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.dentistry/2004-12/3504.html>

From: Tim Dixon (timgdixon_at_cox.net)

Date: 12/04/04

Date: Fri, 3 Dec 2004 19:47:24 -0800

>>>

>>> Explain privately if you must.

>>

>>the 5th element has to do with the fact that when we were young, so much >>younger, every 5th child born in the world was chinese, and at one time >>there were some folks around here who thought that because my name then

>>was

>>Bruce Chang that I was surely chinese. The reality is i'm not chinese or >>hawaiian, but i was born in hawaii when it was still territory and not a >>state.. but i wasn't Bruce Chang then either, and i'm not really Bruce >>now. Oh and I don't live on Oahu anymore but I would like to.

>>Chang

>>

>>I bet you are really confused now.

>>

>

>

> Yep.

>

> Blowing smoke up me arse are you?

>

No, no smoke, thats really it .. but as the Little Webby said it had an awful lot to do with the imagined 20% who had something imagined called tmj, so we thought we would be as imaginative as some others had been.

Re: Mommy, where do islands come from? Was Re: Why do Dentists and their receptionists/assistants always