

Re: Has anyone heard of TDOCS

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.dentistry/2005-01/2672.html>

---

From: Dr Steve (nospam_at_home.net)

Date: 01/26/05

Date: Wed, 26 Jan 2005 14:57:03 GMT

Joel,

Actually, going digital lowered my overhead. I figure good software makes dentistry more affordable.

--

~+---+---+---+---+---+---+
Stephen Mancuso, D.D.S.
Troy, Michigan, USA

.....
This posting is intended for informational or conversational purposes only. Always seek the opinion of a licensed dental professional before acting on the advice or opinion expressed here. Only a dentist who has examined you in person can diagnose your problems and make decisions which will affect your health.

.....
"Joel M. Eichen" <joeleichen@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:285fv0do5jk20qru05i6analt9lvqgdv7p@4ax.com...

> On Wed, 26 Jan 2005 12:25:34 GMT, "Dr Steve" <nospam@home.net> wrote:

>

>>Joel,

>>

>>>You are paying for the research and engineering which got the program to >>the >>point it is when you buy it, plus the support moneys go to providing a >>technician who is there when you have problems, and also gets used to fund >>further improvements.

>>

>>>All you need is to own a software package which offers little to no >>support,

>>and barely ever improves, to convince you what is best for your practice.

>>

>>>For the office which only does billing on their computer (and always plans >>to be behind the rest of the technological world) then any cheap program >>will do.

>

> There ya go ..... its the old, if the car is not internet equipped > with its own IP address, or GPS system in place, what good is it?

>

> Yeah it works, but at what price (to the world at large)?

>

> Already we have patients RUNNING to see Dr. Lily and running to > Mexico.

>

> We have outpriced our services (dentistry) from 50% of our market.

>

Re: Has anyone heard of TDOCS

sci.med.dentistry: Re: Has anyone heard of TDOCS

> I would like to see the dental demographics expanded, subtracting of > course for the positive effects of fluoridation and the negative > effects of Jan Drew's advice.
>
> Are we ahead or are we behind with our quest to eliminate tooth loss?
> That is my only interest. All my posts point back towards better ways > for the greatest good for the greatest number. Its strictly a numbers > game.
>
> Of course, for individual dentists, this may differ slightly.
>
>
>
>
> Joel
>
>
>
>