Bottled water is indeed a big issue. "Vichy", which is often sold here, contains around 6 ppm fluoride. Because of this high fluoride content it must bear a label saying "fluoridhaltig" ("contains fluoride"). Most people certainly buy this water because they think this labeling is some kind of recommendation.

Many bottled waters sold here contain more than 1 ppm fluoride. And they may contain other contaminants as well, which mostly are not mentioned on the label. Not to speak of bacterial growth.
