I am at a loss for words. Sending a 1349 (one meg, three hundred forty nine kilobytes) message to a text only group.

That is such bad manners, that I cannot find polite words to describe my contempt for your rudeness.

Hello.

Would you be so kind as to give a free advice? I don't know if my issue is so important that warrants a trip to a dentist that never comes cheap. It is not a tooth issue but more of some skin issue.

I just yesterday started to have a numb pain in a localized region in my mouth. Today I took a picture and it is clearly evident that there is some discoloring spots that suggest some infection.

Can you at least tell me what is it that I am having? I attach a high resolution JPG photo.

About me, a student, 26 years old male.

Thank you for your time.
