Just an update. Spoke with Dr. B's office, and they said that the x-ray in question was not of good quality. So, they want to do a set of bitewings when my wife comes in to get her crown done on the 18th. If the existing x-ray isn't good for them, then it would be even less readable if I were to put a copy on the net I suppose. I'll request a copy of the bitewings after their taken, and post them then. The saga continues.
