

Re: Are digital x-rays better than film?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.dentistry/2005-08/msg00217.html>

- From: stove99pipeTRA@xxxxxxxxxxx (StovePipe)
 - Date: Sat, 6 Aug 2005 11:06:28 -0400
-

Alexander Vasserman DDS <purple543210@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

- > Given all of this and factoring patient comfort it makes you wonder
- > what the original poster know thinks or meant by the subject line. Or
- > what is the relevancy of it?
- > I am not saying I am not happy about my decision I had good reason to
- > go this route and I am glad I did because from the diagnosis aspect I
- > am getting better quality images from my assistant. Sure you exchange
- > one set of problems for another but I can live better with the digital.

Have you considered those phosphor plate arrangements like DrS uses?. I have seen the sensors get smaller and smaller with time, but I think the phosphor plate has advantages, one being that the hygienist can use the same system as well, at almost the same time. I dunno... The local Endo Guy has the same setup as well, and he doesn't regret it.

Thanks

SP

—

Finally: take out the TRASHH

.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Are digital x-rays better than film?
 - ◇ From: Alexander Vasserman DDS
- References:
 - ◆ Are digital x-rays better than film?
 - ◇ From: James E.
 - ◆ Re: Are digital x-rays better than film?
 - ◇ From: Bill
 - ◆ Re: Are digital x-rays better than film?
 - ◇ From: Dr Steve
 - ◆ Re: Are digital x-rays better than film?
 - ◇ From: StovePipe
 - ◆ Re: Are digital x-rays better than film?
 - ◇ From: Alexander Vasserman DDS

Re: Are digital x-rays betterthan film?

- Prev by Date: Re: OT: Joel says hello
- Next by Date: Re: AF358 broke in two...
- Previous by thread: Re: Are digital x-rays betterthan film?
- Next by thread: Re: Are digital x-rays betterthan film?
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread