

Re: Freeze.Panes revisited

---

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.dentistry/2005-10/msg00870.html>

---

- From: Robert Morien <PhD\_failure@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Mon, 17 Oct 2005 14:21:46 -0700
-

In article <1129559779.451331.179230@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>, "StovePipe" <stove99pipe@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

> StovePipe wrote:
>> Howdy all people and animals and dentists.
>
>> I have asked if I can move with them,(The new batch of Mad Dogs >> and they say there would be enough space, but my CPA tells me it can >> cost up to 60K just to get it set up and running...(!) I'm gonna talk >> to the pharmacist owner ....>
>> Cheers, gang
>> SP
>
> Well, I just talked to his secretary, to see about meeting him to raise > that possibility, and it seems that this _is_ gonna be possible.
> They're already talking 'bout it down in the head office.
>
> Jeez... am I glad I got that new(er) chair into the hygiene room when I > did: the Head Mad Dog of the new group came by to see my little shop > last week, and he would have been horrified to see the old one.
>
> Things _may_ be looking up a bit more than I previously thought.
>
> Now... if I could only get some time to see about that ROOTER and get > it set up: the pointy heads at Sympatico tell me that the distance > between the DSL modem and the telephone socket shall not be more than > SEVEN FEET, if I want a decent signal. That means I'm gonna have to > staple the modem to the wife's piano or to the wall somewheres closer > to the socket. And, of course, I've gotta get it up and working. Gotta > get it done, though, as posting thru GOOOOGLE groupes on the wife's > Windoze box is the pits.
>
> Cheers again gang...
> SP

What is so sacred about 7 feet? After all the SOCKET is likely more than 7 feet from the switching office...do they think another 10 FEET or 20 FEET is going to make all that much difference? (Easiest thing is to try a longer cord).

BTW if that should actually be the case (LOL!!!!) get a bridge router.

---

- Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Freeze.Panes revisited
◇ From: StovePipe

- References:

- ◆ Freeze.Panes revisited
◇ From: StovePipe
- ◆ Re: Freeze.Panes revisited
◇ From: StovePipe

- Prev by Date: Re: "Flying Thermometers" (Mercury-tinged ducks)
- Next by Date: Re: How to self treat abscess for 2 months
- Previous by thread: Re: Freeze.Panes revisited
- Next by thread: Re: Freeze.Panes revisited
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread