

Re: What do you think about Laser Gum treatment?

Re: What do you think about Laser Gum treatment?

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.dentistry/2007-09/msg00481.html>

---

- From: "ahuangdds2@xxxxxxxxxx" <ahuangdds2@xxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Fri, 28 Sep 2007 04:17:27 -0000
-

On Sep 27, 5:16 pm, George <chpet...@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

On Sep 26, 3:34 pm, "ahuangd...@xxxxxxxxxx" <ahuangd...@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

I have been using periolase for about 6 months, and I was very impressed with my cases outcome. Here is a case I post in dental town.....Just want to know what people think about this procedure? I have 2-3 business to run....So please don't get offended if I didn't get back to you rapidly.....<http://groups.google.com/group/dfw-dental/web/arlington-mansfield-are...>

It certainly looks impressive. From your personal experience, what's the average gain in attachment, assuming patient complies with your OH instructions?

Regards,
George

George:

I followed the LANAP protocol closely as I was taught, It is a procedure invented by two dentists in CALifornia. I 'm not suppose probe any case until my 9 months recall. I have performed about 30 full mouth cases so far. There are only one case I have probe at 6 month recall, my own mother who have Type 3-4 perio. The pre-op probing was 7mm in most posterior area, In 6 month post treatment- All goes to 3mm or less. She was numb for pre and post op probing. I have no connection to the maker of periolase, and I'm not an employee of MDT.....I'm a periolase user.....I'm just very please with the result and want to share with every one.....
Here is a link to MDT web site- <http://www.millenniumdental.com/>.

Re: What do you think about Laser Gum treatment?