

Re: Cancer Quack gets another one (crosspost)

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.cancer/2004-09/0024.html>

From: J (taborca_at_example.com)

Date: 09/01/04

Date: Wed, 01 Sep 2004 07:15:01 -0400

Peter Moran wrote:

> "Anth" <anon@anon.com> wrote in message
>
> > <http://www.citylightsnews.com/ce/diary-1aug04.htm>
> > Anth
> >
> Quote----
>
> *"Your "piece of cake" approach to serious cancer activity has fooled me in > taking wrong decisions. Don't worry, I know very well what you would say... > the ultimate decision lay in my hands. However this decision was made as a > result of your confidence that this was an easy matter using your program.
> While on the program when I showed concern about the CEA rising. You said > this was probably a good thing as the body was getting rid of the cancer.
> You could not be any further away from the truth.
> I am not running away from my responsibility, but I can still point at your > actions and your irresponsible words to help someone else in my situation > make better decisions. "*
>
> *How is the average person to know how to evaluate the claims of the quacks?
> There is nothing noble about "patient choice" when it is based upon > ubiquitous lies and false promises.*
>
> The cancer sufferer is certainly in no position to dispassionately evaluate > all the claims, and, in any case, has the right to gamble on the longest > odds if they should wish to.
>
> It is we who don't yet have cancer that should be exposing the corruption > that drives most "alternative" treatment of cancer. Merely insisting on a > smidgeon more evidence and a better quality of testimonial would weed out a > lot of the worst quacks.
>
> Peter Moran

This has to be repeated on other newsgroups.
And he's Canadian.

sci.med.diseases.cancer: Re: Cancer Quack gets another one (crosspost)

<http://www.citylightsnews.com/ce/main.htm>

Did you look at all the "quack things" he tried there (and visited?)

However, he was surgically resected for bowel cancer in year 2000...

I haven't read each entry as to whether he was getting followup monitoring (but will try to)

Or hope you'll be able to ...(and continue this thread).

Thanks Peter.

J