

Re: CAT scan followup

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.med.diseases.cancer/2006-10/msg00029.html>

- From: "Jeff" <jeff@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Sun, 08 Oct 2006 20:23:03 GMT
-

"madiba" <down@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1hmvzyk.hr4a1y1uitg2wN%down@xxxxxxxxxxxx>

Jeff <jeff@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote:

"madiba" <down@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:1hmtzsn.12elv391k3yh8iN%down@xxxxxxxxxxxx>

J W <jonboy42@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

Most of the MDs here are 'foreign' if you're based in the USA.

I don't think this is true. Most doctors in residency are trained in US medical schools and are US citizens or nationals.

You misunderstood me, unless you believe the internet is US-based and was created by Al Gore..

Al Gore never claimed to create the internet. He did claim to create the funding environment that let the US Defense Dept. create the internet.
That's partly true. The agency that controls the domain names is based in the US? Did you even notice how the URIs for US organizations end in .com,
..org, .edu, etc., but in other countries then end with the countries abbreviation?

While you are correct that the internet is now international, it started as a US Defence Department project.

I meant here in s.m.d.c., where you're the 'local yokel', Steph is in Canada, I'm in Austria. I'm signing off for 7

Re: CAT scan followup

weeks in Africa from Monday. That gives you parity until I return, then you're an endangered minority again.. :-/

I am not endangered, here, except when i get to my school in NYC.

But that's a different story.

Jeff

—
madiba